

Outline of Statutory Nuisance Law Modules

Tim Everett

Module 1

First of three webinars – deals with SN generally and enforcement

The objectives for the webinar

- A better understanding of how and when SN can be used
- An understanding of SN's relationship with the common law (highlighting a recent Supreme Court decision)
- How to serve good Abatement Notices
- How to enforce them
- How to make and record the decisions properly
- A better understanding of the relationship with Planning, Housing and Permits

Module 2

Second of series of three webinars – deals with Noise Nuisance in detail, including the legal issues around poor sound insulation, and with Human Rights and Equality issues

The objectives for the webinar

- A better understanding of how and when SN can be used to deal with noise
- An understanding of SN's relationship with the common law
- How to take account of Human Rights and Equalities issues
- A better understanding of the relationship with ASB powers, Licensing, and other noise legislation
- Understanding the impacts of Ombudsmen decisions

Module 3

Third of a series of three modules on statutory nuisance

The objectives for this module

- To review and reinforce the key issues covered in Modules 1 and 2
- How to apply the SN principles in complex cases (new scenario added)

Numbers – 20 to 40 for Modules 1 and 2, 10 to 20 for Module 3 to allow for small group discussion on the case studies.

All modules last approximately 2 hours, split into two sessions with time for questions at the end of each and a comfort break in between the two. The second Q & A session can continue for longer as necessary.

Attendees will get a copy of the slides and associated notes after the relevant event. Further information is available on my website, and I am happy to take post event questions addressed to help@environmentalhealthlaw.co.uk
